

EXTRA. 2 O'CLOCK. EIGHT PACES.

M'ELVANE ESCAPED. But the "Dying" Crook Was Quickly Recaptured. Sent to Smith's Infirmary, Staten Island, He Tries for Freedom. Remarkable Band of the Stapleton Post-Office Robber.

Thomas McElvane, the notorious crook, who was shot by Policeman King, while attempting to rob the Stapleton S. L. Post-Office, and was found dangerously wounded, a few days later, at St. Catherine's Hospital, Williamsburg, escaped last night from Smith's Infirmary, on Staten Island, where he had been confined recently in a supposed dying condition.

He was recaptured soon afterwards, but not before he had succeeded in getting a good distance away from the institution. McElvane, who also masquerades under the aliases of McElvane and McElvane, was one of three men who attempted to rob the Stapleton (S. L.) post-office one night in April last. Policeman King frustrated the burglary, however, and fired several shots after the retreating burglars, one of which struck McElvane in the back.

The men all escaped in a rowboat, and made off in the direction of the Brooklyn shore. King was so confident, by the trail of blood left behind, that he had dangerously wounded one of the men, that the Brooklyn police were notified and a sharp watch was kept of the Brooklyn hospitals.

A day or two later an officer and deserted boat was found at the foot of Montague street, Brooklyn, and the same morning Dr. Bortensohn, of 231 Evesgreen avenue, Williamsburg, was called to attend a man at 156 Harmon street, who had a serious wound in the back. Dr. Bortensohn advised the man to go to a hospital, and offered to call an ambulance.

"No, sir," "I'll walk," remonstrated the man. "Just tell me the way." A little later the injured man entered St. Catherine's Hospital alone and gave his name as Frank Brown. That was all he would say, except that a friend had accidentally shot him.

Dr. Bortensohn notified the police, but they could not identify the man, and Policeman King could not positively identify the man as the burglar he was certain he had shot.

At 156 Harmon street the police found a family of Browns. They had a boarder named Frank Conway, who came home a night or two before wounded.

The minute the police began questioning the Browns about Conway they shut up like clams, but the police learned enough to convince them that Conway was the "Brown" at the hospital, and the next day "Brown" was identified by Detective-Serents, Crowley and Mulvey, of Inspector McLaughlin's staff, as Thomas McElvane, a notorious crook, whose number in the Rogues' Gallery is 1,441.

DIAMONDS DAZZLE THE COURT. The Women Arrested at the Imperial Held for Examination. One of Them Said to Have Been a Stock Broker's Wife.

Two fashionably dressed women, with big diamonds in their ears and on their shapely fingers, were arraigned before Justice Koch, in Jefferson Market Court this morning charged with disorderly conduct.

Both women were evidently not of the kind usually found in a police court, and out of consideration for their apparent refinement, were allowed to wait in a private room until it was their turn to be examined.

The younger and taller of the pair was wearing an up-to-date costume of the Eaton style, made from light material. Her companion wore black, and was somewhat more quiet in her tastes. Both were very fearful.

The police story of how they came to be there is to the effect that the two women visited the Imperial Music Hall last evening in a carriage. They purchased a box, and while watching the performance bought considerable wine.

It was not long before the ushers were obliged to ask the couple to be more quiet, as their hilarities were disturbing the performance.

This request had no effect on the happy revellers, who grew so boisterous that the manager had them ejected from the box. The pair escaped still more hilariously, and an impromptu skirt dance was tipped at its outset by Policeman Parney, who arrested them.

At the Thirtieth street station the women refused to give their names. They intimated that they were sisters and with that the police had to be satisfied. They were booked up, but when they reached the station prisoners still refused to reveal their identity, but would they make any statement to Justice Koch.

A representative from the office of Fred G. House was on hand to represent the women at a short conference. The women were released in the custody of their counsel until this afternoon, when they came up for examination.

When they left the courtroom they immediately took a taxi and were driven away with their counsel. George Friend and House declared that they would not tell their correct names, and one of the women, however, was recognized as the wife of a broker who used to have an office in Wall street, but who was ruined, it is said, by the crash.

MAIL HORSES IN A TRENCH. Rescued Unhurt After Nearly Three Hours' Imprisonment.

A team of horses drawing United States mail wagon 121, and driven by William Brooks, of 43 West Twenty-ninth street, fell into a subway excavation on the northeast corner of Broadway and Franklin street, at 150 this morning, and it was two hours and forty minutes before they were taken out.

Both horses mysteriously escaped other injury than a few scratches and bruises, but Jacob Storer, a subway laborer, who was at work in the trench had a narrow escape from serious injury, if not death.

The trench is about ten feet deep, five feet across, and extends on barrels, thirty feet east of Broadway to within a foot of the cable road tracks. It is lined with heavy planks on barrels, weighted down with stones, and red lights warn pedestrians and drivers at night.

The subway watchman insists that Driver Brooks must have been asleep, but he shortly before daylight, and the horses shied. At any rate the off horse pushed down the barricade, tumbling the driver, and he was pulled up by the other horse, pulling his mate down on top of him.

The big wagon tried to get in but wouldn't, and the driver was warned by the falling planks, and managed to get out from under.

For three hours and forty minutes the telephone and with the aid of a derrick managed to hold out both horses by the reins, and the men on the street in Fifteenth street from the Post-Office, and contained in mail wagons. Brooks had just finished his night's work.

SEEKING HER RUNAWAY SPOUSE. Mrs. Berkenbusch Followed Him to This Country from Bremen.

Mrs. George Berkenbusch, of 24 East Seventy-fourth street, took a seamy living by doing needlework and cooking, by which she supports herself and her eight-year-old daughter, and any surplus cash she accumulates is spent in searching for her husband, who deserted her last November in Bremen and came to this country with a Miss Boettcher.

Berkenbusch was a clerk in the Bremen "Post" office, and after he became acquainted with Miss Boettcher, he spent nearly all his spare time in her company, taking her to theatres and other places of amusement, the money being supplied by her.

BOODY ACTS AT LAST. Application Made for the Publication of the Minutes. Judge Moore Will Hear the Motion To-Morrow.

The Peculiar Position of District-Attorney Ridgway. Smarting under the censure of the Grand Jurors who said he, with thirteen members of the Board of Aldermen, ought to be indicted for frauds perpetrated against the city, and the wife of the late Mayor, Mayor David A. Hoody, of Brooklyn, has at last taken steps to clear his skirts of the scandal.

Two weeks have elapsed since the Grand Jury presented its written statement to Judge Moore, in the Brooklyn court of Sessions, and the Mayor has been threatening all sorts of things ever since.

Lawyers and citizens alike regarded it all as a great bluff. The Mayor's dictatorial tactics, therefore, subjected him to such adverse criticism that as soon as he reached his office this morning he started to do something.

A messenger was at once sent to Corporation Counsel Alford P. Jenks, and the two were soon in close confab. Then a stenographer was called in, and the task of preparing an affidavit begun.

In a few minutes the affidavit was thrown aside for the time being, and Mr. Jenks hurried over to Judge Moore, who was sitting in the Court of Sessions. With the exception of the clerk and one or two attendants, no one was present when Mr. Jenks asked the attention of the Court.

"I have," he said, "an application to make concerning the censure of Mayor Hoody by the Grand Jury. The application will be based on affidavits which have not yet been drawn, and for the purpose of asking Your Honor to direct the minutes of the Grand Jury to be published. Will the Court set a time for hearing the application?"

"You can have any morning this week," was the Judge's reply. "We are anxious to have this matter settled as speedily as possible," said Mr. Jenks. "To-morrow morning will suit us."

"All right, then, to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock," said Judge Moore. "Notify the Corporation Counsel then walked back to the District-Attorney's office, where he gave notice of the intended application. He then returned to the Mayor's office and the preparation of the affidavit was resumed.

Between District-Attorney James W. Ridgway, of Kings County, and District-Attorney De Lancey Nicolai, of New York, there seems to be a wide difference of opinion as to the rights and duties of Grand Jurors. However honest the former may be, he presents now the appearance of standing between the people and the Aldermen and Mayor, who are the Grand Jury ought to have been indicted, shielding them, as it were, from the law which he was elected to prosecute.

DOCTRINE AND LOVER HELD. Gertie Carloy's Illness Charged to Mr. Lawrence and Oscar Berger.

The Girl is Only Seventeen and Was Engaged to Be Married. Dr. Kate Lawrence, thirty-nine years old, of 231 West Thirty-ninth street, and Oscar Berger, twenty years old, of 41 Columbus avenue, were held without bail by Justice Burke in the Yorkville Police Court this morning on a charge of having performed a criminal operation upon Gertie Carloy, seventeen years old, who lives at 51 Columbus avenue, and with whom family Berger boards.

It is alleged that on or about July 3, Berger brought the girl to Mrs. Lawrence's apartments, where she was treated, and soon afterwards became very ill.

Dr. Newcomb, of 18 West Sixty-sixth street, was called, and he found the girl so ill that he summoned Dr. Lewis, of 18 West Sixty-sixth street, in consultation.

The doctors' bill is said, decided that an unlawful operation had been performed, and intimated that the case was one for the police, but it is alleged that they did not without the operation. He said that he had performed the operation, but remained in an adjoining room, until Mrs. Lawrence told him that it was all over, and that he was to take the girl home. She cautioned him to "be careful of her."

It is alleged that he had lived in the Greeney household one year, and was a doctor by profession. He had a favorite piece of music, and the girl was very fond of it, and was engaged to be married to him.

He is a slight built, boyish appearing fellow, and seemed to feel his position. Mrs. Lawrence is a widow, she says. She gave her occupation as that of a dressmaker. She declined to converse about the case.

Gertie's condition is not considered serious, but it is feared that blood poisoning would set in.

CONNELL SWORE AND WAS BEAT. Two of the Insulted Excursionists Held for Assaulting Him.

John Jones, of 50 West Nineteenth street, and Frank Markham, of 25 Vandam street, were held for assault in the Tombs Court this morning.

PERILOUS DATES IN PARIS. Anniversaries of Ravachol's Death and the Bastille's Fall. Fears that on One or the Other Riots Will Break Out Again.

PARIS, July 10.—Despite the asseverations made in some quarters that the troubles in this city are at an end, the Government has not relaxed its measures to put down disorders should they arise. In fact, it is evident that further outbreaks are expected, and the troops now in the city will be kept in line in case of emergency.

To-morrow will be the first anniversary of the execution of Ravachol, the notorious Anarchist, thief and murderer, and it is feared that the Anarchists will attempt to make a riotous demonstration on the occasion.

Friday, July 11, will be the 184th anniversary in full of the Bastille, which is made a general holiday, and it is apprehended that the disaffected element will attempt to take advantage of the day to again make trouble.

The Kaiser Offers a Prize. It Will Be Known as "Hobbes' Zola" and is for Yachtmen to Win.

BRITAIN, July 10.—At the dinner of the Imperial Yacht Club in Kiel yesterday Emperor Wilhelm announced his intention to found a Hobbes' Zola prize to be awarded annually at the Club's regatta.

The conditions of entry would be, he said, that every competing yacht should be built within the year since the last race, in a certain number of tons, and made of certain materials, and after certain dates.

The prize would be 1,000, 2,000 or 3,000 marks. The Emperor has already founded a Meteor prize for an annual race between Kiel and Travemunde.

The competitors will be yachts of the first or second class. The winner of a first or second class system will become owner of the right to win the Emperor's prize.

HONOLULU, July 10.—The American yacht Natchez, which is a four-masted schooner, which is to be in the English race, arrived at Oahu, Isle of Wight, today. She arrived at Oahu, Isle of Wight, today. She arrived at Oahu, Isle of Wight, today. She arrived at Oahu, Isle of Wight, today.

CAUGHT THE CASINO THIEF. He and a Companion Were Loaded Down with Booty.

The burglar who has been robbing the dressing-rooms at the Casino has been captured. He is a colored man and his name is William Jones.

Jones was caught at 5:30 this morning as he was coming out of the Casino with another man, who got away.

Jones had his arms full of stolen property, including a mandolin, clavier, piano, a pair of men's and a pair of ladies' shoes, a pair of pink tights, several other articles of his nature.

The thieves had even taken a padlock and key off of a door, and had stolen the same.

Jones is nineteen years old, but has no home. As far as he can be learned, he and his associate went into the Casino last night, while the roof garden was open. At the close of the performance, and while the people were passing out, Jones and his companion hid.

At the house was closed, the two began to ransack and soon collected from the dressing-rooms the articles described.

It was daylight this morning when the two thieves attempted to leave with their booty. A watchman, however, heard them coming down, falling and stumbling about.

Policeman John Barry, of the West Thirtieth street station, together with a watchman, started to come out of the door on the second floor, and the two thieves were loaded down with bundles.

At sight of the policeman the man with Jones dropped his bundle and ran, but the watchman called the police, and he had him detained.

BYRNES WILL INVESTIGATE. Capt. O'Connor Must Answer Patron's West's Allegations.

Supt. Byrnes told an "Evening World" reporter today he would investigate the statements of Patronman West's West's allegations.

Frederick W. West, of the Tenderloin district, who resigned yesterday morning, because, he claimed, Officer O'Connor refused to grant him twenty-four hours leave to go and see his brother, who was reported to be dying in Saratoga.

West says he asked for the twenty-four hours extra vacation granted the men for efficient service during the strike, but that the watchman, when it was refused, he resigned.

The captain of precincts have power to grant twenty-four hours leave in their judgment. It will not impair the service. West is known as "Capt. Kelly's Infant."

BEAT THE BOY IN REVENGE. Mrs. Dornoe Accuses Her Neighbor of a Mean Action.

Mrs. Ella Dornoe, of 284 Stockton street, applied in the Leo Avenue Court, Williamsburg, today, for a warrant for the arrest of Lizzie Haefner, of 242 Stockton street.

It seems that there has been more or less ill-feeling between the two women for some time, and yesterday they had a wordy war.

Later in the day, Mrs. Haefner met with Dornoe in front of her residence, and after knocking him down, kicked and beat him. Mrs. Haefner had a long cut across his right cheek, and his left ear was also damaged.

The seven-year-old brother of the wounded man caught up a weapon and fired twice at the mate, and fled hastily.

AN INNOCENT MAN LYNCHED. No Shadow of Evidence That Miller Murdered the Ray Girls.

CAIRO, Ill., July 10.—It is now generally conceded that C. J. Miller, the Springfield, Miss. man who was lynched at Bartlett, Ky., for the murder of the Ray sisters was executed upon a flimsy evidence.

In a motion from a trustworthy source at Springfield, Mo., it is stated that Miller received a confounding Miller's statements as to where he was on July 4, and 5, Miller claimed he was at Bartlett, Mo., on the morning of July 5, and careful inquiry has failed to discover a single person who was positively known to have seen Miller, or even in Carlisle county that day.

CASHIER HILL A DEFAULTER. The Shortage is $95,000 and an Ogden Bank Must Close.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, July 10.—It has been discovered that Oscar E. Hill, cashier of the Commercial National Bank of Ogden, is a defaulter to the amount of $95,000, and the bank will close its doors and go into voluntary liquidation.

The depositor will lose nothing, as the principal officers among the structure are individual men in Ogden. Hill has been speculating.

LOVE BOY CLAIMED. Mrs. Lena Poyer, of 195 Forsyth street, called at Police Headquarters this morning and claimed her son, Henry, aged six years, who was found last night at the corner of Broadway and Bridge street, he had on neither hat, coat nor shoes.

ANOTHER TROLLEY VICTIM. Little Odrande Montesi's Leg Fractured in Brooklyn.

Odrande Montesi, nine years old, of 13 Hamilton avenue, Brooklyn, was struck by trolley car No. 400 of the Hamilton Ferry street line this morning, and had his left leg fractured.

He was taken to the Long Island College Hospital.
